Nova Systems opens a branch in Paris

The Group's process of internationalization continues

After launching a branch in Barcelona, Nova Systems is continuing its process of internationalization with the opening of a branch in Paris. The aim of the Information and Communication Technology company is to place on all the main markets the BeOne Cloud Forwarding Suite software solution, created for the international shipping, transport, customs and logistics sector.

"The offices are in Place Vendôme in the centre of Paris and will be operational from the early days of January, 2017," confirmed the International Business Development Director, Silvano Forapan, who pointed out: "Logistics companies, not only in Italy but also abroad, are seeking integrated solutions that are always in step with the needs of logistics operators and partners with an international dimension, in order to give support not only to the Italian branches but also those in other countries."

BeOne's Wms is completely integrated with the other modules in BeOne's Suite, in particular with TMS, Business Intelligence and Management Control. "Operating with such a flexible solution is an important advantage for logistics in an increasingly competitive market," added Forapan. "With the branch in Paris, Nova Systems acquires an even more international reach. Our intention is to be a benchmark for the European market, especially in France and Spain, where some of our clients already use BeOne."
